FIGHTING 70th CONGRESS IS PEACEFUL NOW

COMES BACK TO FINISH UP ITS WORK

HAD ADJOURNED FOR HOLIDAYS, SENATE LOCKED IN FILIBUSTER

AGREEMENT NOW NEGOTIATED ON KELLOGG ANTI-WAR TREATY

By PAUL R. MALLON

Washington, Jan. 3.—The fighting 70th congress, which adjourned for the Christmas holidays with the senate locked in a bitter filibuster, came back today to finish up its work in an atmosphere of peace.

An agreement was negotiated by senate leaders whereby the Kellogg anti-war treaty will be considered before the naval cruiser building bill, thus settling the dispute of precedence to the satisfaction of both sides. Under this agreement Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee was to get the peace pact before the senate at 2 P. M.

The only haze on this peaceful horizon was provided by Senator James A. Reed, the most ardent opponent of the treaty, who has announced his Vare investigating committee will meet tomorrow and probably will prepare its report to the senate.

This report is of the highest privilege and by its presentation in the senate Reed might be able to delay consideration of the treaty. If Reed can be persuaded to hold off his Vare report or if some arrangement is made whereby it will not conflict with the Kellogg pact, Borah expects the treaty to be ratified within a week.

After the treaty will come the naval bill. It is expected to require two or three weeks but a majority now appears to favor its provisions for 15 new 10,000 ton cruisers and an aircraft carrier to be built within three years in spite of President Coolidge's opposition to the time limit. No program as to what will be taken up after the naval bill has yet been adopted.

During consideration of the treaty and the naval bill numerous appropriation bills and other minor matters will be taken up and acted upon. The farm relief bill might also be squeezed through, but only in case President-elect Hoover expresses a desire for such action when he returns here next week.

Washington, Jan. 3 — Chairman Snell of the house rules committee advised President Coolidge today it did not appear likely that any farm relief legislation would be enacted during the short session of congress which ends March 4. The president did not comment on his report, Snell said.

Washington, Jan. 3. — Straining lines of opposition over the anti-war treaty and the naval cruiser building program monopolized attention as congress returned from its Christmas holidays today for its two months' final session.

The small group opposing the treaty gained another convert when Senator John G. Blaine, a LaFollette republican of Wisconsin introduced a resolution proposing to eliminate the unofficial reservation of colony protection which Great Britain set forth in a note to the United States before the treaty was signed. The Blaine resolution proposed to state for the senate an opinion that the British note was not an official reservation.

It was placed on the table alongside the Moses-Reed resolution proposing to protect traditional American foreign policies from any interpretations of the treaty. Blaine made a short statement in which he charged Britain's effort to state a policy of national defense toward her colonies was nothing more than an effort to restate article ten of the League of Nations covenant.

"If America adheres to the treaty," he said, "then we legalize Great Britain's dominion in all the world and we acknowledge that less than 50 million subjects of Great Britain shall have the right to rule over 400 million people without their consent and against their protest."

The unexpected step opened the fight over the treaty and the naval bill where it was left off before Christmas.

Washington, Jan. 3.—(UP)—The state, justice, commerce and labor department appropriation bill carrying $111,301,527 was passed today by the senate. This was an increase of $68,648 over the bill as passed by the house.

Bolivia Accepts Protocol 'With Modifications'

SOURCE OF 'CRANK' LETTERS DISCOVERED IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—The arrest of Abraham Rosenberg, 27, a clerk in the main postoffice here, has cleared up the mystery of "crank" letters received in the last few years by President Coolidge, Vice President Dawes, former Governor Smith, and other dignitaries, postal authorities announced today.

Postal inspectors said they found 1,200 letters, all of threatening nature, at Rosenberg's home.

Rosenberg dropped his last letter down a chute in the main postoffice. It was traced to him and the threatening letters were found in his home. Rosenberg, postal men say, threatened "action" after such developments as the sinking of the submarine S-4.

IMPROVEMENT NOTED IN KING GEORGE TODAY

MAJESTY'S PHYSICIANS SO REPORT TO BRITISH NATION

KING HAD RESTLESS NIGHT, INDICATING GRADUAL RECOVERY IN ILLNESS

London, Jan. 3. — (UP) — The slight improvement noted in the condition of King George continues to be reported by his majesty's physicians.

An official bulletin issued about noon today said:

"The king passed a restless night. There is no change to record in his majesty's condition."

A person in high authority at Buckingham Palace regarded the bulletin as satisfactory. He pointed out that the reported restlessness was not discouraging but merely an indication that the gradual recovery was continuing.

The Daily News said today that King George still has not recovered his strength enough to see any members of the royal family except the queen, who is admitted to the sick-room whenever she wishes.

Further encouragement that the king really was on the road to recovery was given with departure of Sir William Joynson-Hicks, home secretary, for Mentone, France.

The home secretary said he had been assured by Lord Dawson that the physicians were satisfied with the king' progress.

FLOOD OF BUYING IS DEVELOPING

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET REGAINING ITS VIGOR

By ELMER C. WALZER
(United Press Financial Editor)

New York, Jan. 3. — Yesterday's impressive action of the general market brought a flood of buying into today's early dealings and prices continued to move into new high record ground. Trading was again at large proportions as the speculative public rushed in to buy stocks.

Radio featured the early dealings with a 2¼ point advance to 397, while motors and rails firmed up. Special issues like Paramount and Fox films were in urgent demand.

However, extensive profit-taking and short selling continued in the general list and early gains in most cases were limited to less than a point. General Electric lost 1¼ points to 244, and Montgomery Ward and Canadian Pacific both sold off fractionally.

Vigorous buying continued in the coppers following the advance in the export price to 17 cents a pound today. U. S. steel sold at 164, a new high on the movement. Motor issues met with good gains under the leadership of Willy-Overland which rose a point to another new high.

Westinghouse Electric furnished a sensation shortly after the opening, selling 6½ points higher at 149½ on sales aggregating 12,000 shares.

BOBBY TROUT IN NEW MARK FOR WOMEN

LITTLE BARLING MONOPLANE TOUCHED EARTH AFTER 11 HOURS

(By United Press)

Aviation scored brilliantly in its endurance tournament with old man gravity today.

Eighteen-year-old Miss Bobby Trout, Los Angeles entrant in the women's event, landed her airplane gracefully at the Metropolitan airport of the southern California city, after overcoming the force that brought the apple down on Newton's head for 12 hours and 11 minutes, a new endurance flight record for women.

Between Los Angeles and San Diego the monoplane Question Mark was sailing into its third 24-hour period of continuous flight with every indication that its defiance of the force of gravity could continue indefinitely.

The Question Mark's crew of five men was being refreshed by intervals of sleep and packages of fresh provisions dropped into the plane from another craft which flew overhead. Its tanks were refueled with gasoline fed through a hose from a "tank" plane overhead.

Old man gravity got in his best work at Marshall, Mo., last night, when he tagged the little Barling monoplane as it swooped down to receive a new supply of gasoline which was to be projected aboard from a ground device invented by Blaine M. Tuxhorn, pilot and inventor.

The wheels of the Barling touched the earth and Tuxhorn, knowing he would be disqualified in the endurance test, terminated the flight after remaining in the air for less than 11 hours.

MISS TROUT FLEW 12 HOURS, 11 MINUTES

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 3. — Miss Bobbie Trout, 18-year-old Los Angeles aviatrix, was the new world's champion woman endurance flyer today, having flown her airplane continuously for 12 hours and 11 minutes.

She landed at the Metropolitan ariport at Van Nuys last night at 6:30 after having been in the air since 6:25 A. M. The former endurance record was 9 hours, 6 minutes set by Viola Gentry at Mitchel Field, N. Y.

Only a few gallons of fuel remained in the tanks, not enough for her to have remained in the air 15 hours as she had planned.

BARLING PEOPLE TALK OF REFUELING

Marshall, Mo., Jan. 3.—Although their attempt to set a new endurance flight record had ended in failure today, pilots of the diminutive Barling NB-3 were enthusiastic in the successful way their method of refueling the plane from the ground had operated.

The proposed sustained flight ended last night at 7:48, ten hours and 54 minutes after they had taken off. The plane was landed after Leonard Rhiner, of Kansas City, co-pilot, had accidentally permitted the wheels of the small ship to touch ground as he attempted to take on fuel.

Knowing they would be disqualified, Blaine M. Tuxhorn, pilot-inventor of the ejector which flung to them the fuel from the ground, took over the controls, circled the field and landed.

During the time they were in the air, they had made ten pickups of fuel and other supplies by means of the synchronized ejector pick-up.

CALL CONFERENCE TO CONSIDER COMBATTING FLU

Washington, Jan. 3. (U.P.)—Invitations to attend a national conference under auspices of the U. S. public health service to consider means of combatting influenza have been sent health officials of 48 states and 12 large cities. The conference, to be held here January 10, will seek to devise a new plan for fighting influenza epidemics, Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming said today. A number of prominent scientists will be present.

OXYGEN TANKS WERE RUSHED TO HIS BEDSIDE YESTERDAY

Cleveland, Jan. 3.—(UP) — The condition of Myron T. Herrick, United States ambassador to France, ill with influenza and bronchitis at his home here, was reported improved today.

Dr. John Phillips, who early yesterday rushed oxygen tanks to the Herrick home for emergency treatment, said today:

"Mr. Herrick has made a decided improvement."

Sudden congestion of the lungs, causing laborious breathing, alarmed members of the ambassador's family yesterday and resulted in the call for Dr. Philips.

Brief treatment brought an immediate improvement, and later in the day the ambassador expressed a desire to leave his bed.

3 UNIDENTIFIED MEN ARE LOST IN MOUNTAIN BLIZZARD

Denver, Colo., Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—Three unidentified men believed lost in a blizzard on the slopes of Longs Peak today were being sought by a rescue party of five men, headed by Ranger John Preston, according to a report received here. Preston and his men left Estes Park, a resort village in Rocky Mountain national park, last night, the report said.

HOOVER IS SILENT ON ALL POLITICS

BATTLESHIP UTAH COMES ABREAST OF UNITED STATES TODAY

EXPECTED TO ANCHOR AT HAMPTON ROADS SUNDAY MORNING

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Aboard the U. S. S. Utah En Route to Hampton Roads, Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—President-elect Herbert Hoover remained silent on political questions as the Utah came abreast of the United States early today and steamed northward about 1,000 miles off shore.

Although the battleship was approaching the winter zone after almost two months of South American summer, the weather still was warm today; but the sea was rolling slightly.

The Utah is to anchor at Hampton Roads Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover attended a show last night given by the crew of the Utah but did not remain for a boxing exhibition afterward.

Mr. Hoover has had almost two months of rest from politics in the United Statse, but he will be in the midst of it again next week. Although the president-elect has declined to make any official or unofficial announcements, it is known he will begin a series of conferences at Washington immediately on his return there with a view to forming his cabinet.

Political leaders from all sections of the country are expected to confer with him as he selects his cabinet. He gave as his reason for going to Washington instead of to Florida, as originally planned, that it would be more convenient for these leaders.

Records of the South American trip will be given to the government. These include Mr. Hoover's speeches and messages as well as speeches and messages of South American officials who greeted him.

PLANS TO PLACE FARMING ON EQUAL ECONOMIC BASIS

St. Paul, Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—Plans for placing farming on an equal economic basis with other industries by a general increase in the tariff on agricultural products have been adopted by the Northwest Agricultural foundation.

The policy of tariff increases will be urged before the meeting in Washington next month on the ways and means committee of the house of representatives.

The Northwest Agriculture foundation was formed last week at Fargo, N. D. The purpose of the organization is to form a united front in a drive for farm relief for Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana.

EDDIE LEONARD IS SOUGHT AS BOMB SLAYER

EXPLOSIVE EXPERT CONVICTED 13 YEARS AGO IN ST. PAUL STAMP ROBBERY

BELIEVED HE MAY HAVE BLASTED "DAPPER DAN" HOGAN

St. Paul, Jan. 3.—(UP) — Eddie Leonard, explosive expert convicted thirteen years ago of participation in a $600,000 stamp robbery here, was sought today as the bomb murderer of "Dapper Dan" Hogan, St. Paul underworld ambassador, who was fatally injured recently by a dynamite blast from the starter of his motor car.

The clue connecting Leonard with the Hogan bombing was uncovered in Chicago yesterday when Nels Nelson, house moving contractor and partner of Leonard, told police that $13,500 in stolen bonds found in his possession were given him for safekeeping by "Dapper Dan." The recovered bonds were part of $26,000 loot taken last November from the State Bank of Auburndale, Wis.

Although the bonds were traced to the Auburndale bank, Miss Anne Kohasky, assistant cashier of the bank, could not identify Nelson as one of the robbers that held her up.

Nelson was held by Chicago police.

SOUTHERN EUROPE IS STORMBOUND

MANY DEATHS RESULT FROM FIRST STORMS OF WINTER

Paris, Jan. 3—(UP)—Many deaths were reported today as southern Europe, particularly France, struggled against the first severe storms of the winter.

Trains were delayed, shipping impeded and many roads and mountain passes made impassable by rains and snows which in most instances were accompanied by high, violent winds. Four persons died of the cold in Paris and two deaths were reported from Lyon.

The Algerian packet boat Governor General Jonnart arriving last night at Marseilles reported that three passengers were washed overboard during a storm on the Mediterranean on Wednesday.

High winds and rough seas damaged the coast and delayed train service. The Rivera was struck by a violent storm, accompanied by hail.

NEW ELEMENT OF UNCERTAINTY IN CONTROVERSY

LATEST PHASE IN PARAGUAYAN-BOLIVIAN FRONTIER CLASH

NATURE OF MODIFICATIONS OR RESERVATIONS DESIRED NOT MADE PUBLIC

Washington, Jan. 3. (U.P.)—The Bolivian-Paraguayan protocol providing for an international conciliation commission to deal with the Chaco frontier crisis will be signed at 5:30 at the Pan-American Union building here today, Charles Evans Hughes, United States member of the special committee, announced following a half hour session of the committee this afternoon.

Washington, Jan. 3.—(UP) — A new element of uncertainty was reported injected today into efforts of the Pan-American conference here to conciliate the recent Paraguayan-Bolivian frontier clash, by Bolivia's acceptance "with modifications" of the special mediation committee's protocol.

The nature of the modifications desired by Bolivia has not been made public here. A lengthy cable from his government was being decoded by Bolivian Minister Diez De Medina today.

Members of the mediation committee indicated any substantial modifications in the protocol as drafted virtually were impossible. One member said any changes made would jeopardize the entire conciliation program.

La Paz, Bolivia, Jan. 3.—The Bolivian government has accepted the protocol for arbitration and conciliation of the Gran Chaco border dispute with Paraguay.

Announcement of Bolivia's acceptance was made last night. Paraguay already had accepted the protocol.

The government said signing of the protocol would take place at Washington, where the Pan-American conference now is in session.

Buenos Aires, Jan. 3.—High government sources confirmed the United Press reports today that Argentina would decline to participate in arbitration of the Gran Chaco boundary dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay. The reason for Argentina's decision not to take part was not learned.

Washington, Jan. 3. — A general treaty of inter-American arbitration was adopted unanimously today by the full committee on arbitration of the Pan-American conference here.

Before the adoption of the pact minor changes in wording were made in the draft reported by the subcommittee to the full commitee on arbitration.

The finally adopted draft now will be considered at a plenary session of the conference.

Charles Evans Hughes, the American delegate, announced the United States would sign without reservation.

THEATER MANAGER IN AIRPLANE-TRAIN RACE TO SICK SON

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—W. S. Perutz, Hartford theatre manager, was thought today to be near the end of his plane-and-train race to the bedside of his dying son in Cincinnati.

Learning that his 7-year-old boy, Carroll, was critically ill after a severe attack of scarlet fever at the home of Cincinnati friends, Perutz chartered a plane at Brainard Field here last night and took off for Hadley Field, N. J.

The theatre man was piloted by Lieutenant Charles Wright and was later reported to have landed at Hadley Field. An automobile had been ordered to stand ready to rush Perutz to New Brunswick where he transferred to a fast express bound for the Ohio city.

BELIEVED HE MAY HAVE BLASTED "DAPPER DAN" HOGAN

St. Paul, Jan. 3.—(UP) — Eddie Leonard, explosive expert convicted thirteen years ago of participation in a $600,000 stamp robbery here, was sought today as the bomb murderer of "Dapper Dan" Hogan, St. Paul underworld ambassador, who was fatally injured recently by a dynamite blast from the starter of his motor car.

The clue connecting Leonard with the Hogan bombing was uncovered in Chicago yesterday when Nels Nelson, house moving contractor and partner of Leonard, told police that $13,500 in stolen bonds found in his possession were given him for safekeeping by "Dapper Dan." The recovered bonds were part of $26,000 loot taken last November from the State Bank of Auburndale, Wis.

Although the bonds were traced to the Auburndale bank, Miss Anne Kohasky, assistant cashier of the bank, could not identify Nelson as one of the robbers that held her up.

Nelson was held by Chicago police.

SOUTHERN EUROPE IS STORMBOUND

MANY DEATHS RESULT FROM FIRST STORMS OF WINTER

Paris, Jan. 3—(UP) —Many deaths were reported today as southern Europe, particularly France, struggled against the first severe storms of the winter.

Trains were delayed, shipping impeded and many roads and mountain passes made impassable by rains and snows which in most instances were accompanied by high, violent winds. Four persons died of the cold in Paris and two deaths were reported from Lyon.

The Algerian packet boat Governor General Jonnart arriving last night at Marseilles reported that three passengers were washed overboard during a storm on the Mediterranean on Wednesday.

High winds and rough seas damaged the coast and delayed train service. The Rivera was struck by a violent storm, accompanied by hail.

NEW ELEMENT OF UNCERTAINTY IN CONTROVERSY

LATEST PHASE IN PARAGUAYAN-BOLIVIAN FRONTIER CLASH

NATURE OF MODIFICATIONS OR RESERVATIONS DESIRED NOT MADE PUBLIC

Washington, Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—The Bolivian-Paraguayan protocol providing for an international conciliation commission to deal with the Chaco frontier crisis will be signed at 5:30 at the Pan-American Union building here today, Charles Evans Hughes, United States member of the special committee, announced following a half hour session of the committee this afternoon.

Washington, Jan. 3.—(UP) — A new element of uncertainty was reported injected today into efforts of the Pan-American conference here to conciliate the recent Paraguayan-Bolivian frontier clash, by Bolivia's acceptance "with modifications" of the special mediation committee's protocol.

The nature of the modifications desired by Bolivia has not been made public here. A lengthy cable from his government was being decoded by Bolivian Minister Diez De Medina today.

Members of the mediation committee indicated any substantial modifications in the protocol as drafted virtually were impossible. One member said any changes made would jeopardize the entire conciliation program.

La Paz, Bolivia, Jan. 3.—The Bolivian government has accepted the protocol for arbitration and conciliation of the Gram Chaco border dispute with Paraguay.

Announcement of Bolivia's acceptance was made last night. Paraguay already had accepted the protocol.

The government said signing of the protocol would take place at Washington, where the Pan-American conference now is in session.

Buenos Aires, Jan. 3.—High government sources confirmed the United Press reports today that Argentina would decline to participate in arbitration of the Gram Chaco boundary dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay. The reason for Argentina's decision not to take part was not learned.

Washington, Jan. 3. — A general treaty of inter-American arbitration was adopted unanimously today by the full committee on arbitration of the Pan-American conference here.

Before the adoption of the pact minor changes in wording were made in the draft reported by the subcommittee to the full commitee on arbitration.

The finally adopted draft now will be considered at a plenary session of the conference.

Charles Evans Hughes, the American delegate, announced the United States would sign without reservation.

THEATER MANAGER IN AIRPLANE-TRAIN RACE TO SICK SON

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—W. S. Perutz, Hartford theatre manager, was thought today to be near the end of his plane-and-train race to the bedside of his dying son in Cincinnati.

Learning that his 7-year-old boy, Carroll, was critically ill after a severe attack of scarlet fever at the home of Cincinnati friends, Perutz chartered a plane at Brainard Field here last night and took off for Hadley Field, N. J.

The theatre man was piloted by Lieutenant Charles Wright and was later reported to have landed at Hadley Field. An automobile had been ordered to stand ready to rush Perutz to New Brunswick where he transferred to a fast express bound for the Ohio city.

GRAND JURY CALLED IN CHICAGO TO INVESTIGATE CRIME

Chicago, Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—Judge John J. Sullivan of the circuit court today authorized John A. Swanson, state's attorney of Cook county, to issue a call for the ninth special grand jury to investigate the alleged alliance between crime and politics in Chicago.

The order specified that a call for 75 veniremen should be issued for January 9.

STATE FAIR MADE PROFIT

ANNUAL REPORT OF SECRETARY CANFIELD SHOWS NET PROFIT OF OVER $12,000

The Minnesota State Fair and Northwest Livestock show made a net profit of $12,780.00 in the operation of the 1928 fair, according to the annual report of Secretary Thomas H. Canfield, filed with Governor Theodore Christianson.

With an increased profit, increased attendance, and the best balanced educational program in years, the 1928 exposition will go down in the records as one of the outstanding fairs of the years. Officials are elated over the showing, for it is the best record that has been made in several seasons, and indicates that agricultural conditions in the Northwest are on the upgrade.

An idea of the immensity of the State Fair can be gleaned from a glance at the receipts and disbursements. Total receipts of the fair were $401,310.47. Total expense of the fair was $388,530.47. Cash receipts from ticket sales, outside gates, grandstand and horse show, were $267,083.75. The remainder of the receipts came from the sale of exhibit space, concessions and percentages from rides and attractions.

Resuorces of the State Fair now total $2,577,153.79. Land is valued at $1,073,143.01, and buildings at $1,305,157.00. Cash on hand November 30 was $89,145.22. Personal property is listed at $107,236.91 and accounts receivable at $2,471.65.

Appropriations made by the state for land, buildings, improvements and maintenance since the Fair was organized total $1,559,499.90. The net surplus to the state from increase of land values and profits of fairs reinvested in permanent improvements is $1,017,652.32.

The attendance at the 1928 Fair was 457,212, the best since 1920. The perfect weather of the week brought out record breaking crowds nearly every day, Monday, Labor day, being the banner day with 131,696 persons milling about the grounds.

The report shows that 8,355 exhibitors participated at this year's Fair, the greatest number in history. The attendance at the grandstand was 148,850 and at the night horse show, 13,385.

UNEARTHS INDIAN CORN MEAL CRUSHER

Robert Jaeger, Cemetery Superintendent Finds Unique Stone While Digging Grave

Cemetery Hill Believed Location of Old Indian Gathering Place

While spading the ground for a grave about 100 feet east of the office at Evergreen cemetery today, Robert Jaeger, superintendent, unearthed a most unique stone which historians here assert is an Indian meal pounder used by Indians for crushing corn.

Mr. Jaeger who has been superintendent at the cemetery for the past 16 years stated that in all his experience he has not found another stone of its kind there.

The stone is oblong in shape and perfectly smooth. It is at present on display at the Brainerd Dispatch office.

Presence of the stone further substantiates the belief that the cemetery hill was at one time a gathering place for Indians, and that part of the present cemetery is an old Indian burial ground.

Hon. and Mrs. A. L. Cole, of Motley, leave on Tuesday for Cuba where they will spend the winter.

A very interesting social time was held at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afterncon from 2 o'clock until 10 o'clock in the evening. It was in the form of a reception and the rooms were crowded. During the afternoon songs and music were rendered by Wilfred Miller, pianist, the Salvation Army banjo and guitar players and Rev. S. W. Hover, violinist, who also sang two solos accompanied by the three former. A stereopticon lecture by Rev. Richard Brown was given, the principal views representing "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" and "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight." About 150 guests were present in the evening and a very pleasant time was had.

Mrs. A. G. Schnell left for St. Paul this afternoon for a short visit with friends and relatives. Miss Gertrude Schnell, who has been visiting in the city, also returned to St. Paul.

January 3, 1904

Miss Eloise Smith, Frank Lowey, Clark Smith and Frank Tyler of this city, and T. R. Foley, Jr., of Aitkin, returned to Minneapolis this afternoon to continue their studies at the university after spending the holidays in the city.

Fred Merrtt returned this morning from Milwaukee where he went to deliver the address at a big gathering of the alumnus of Yale college. Every year graduates of Yale living in Wisconsin meet at Milwaukee.

The city schools opened today again after the holiday vacation, and for the first time the new addition to the high school was occupied.

Mrs. J. C. Atherton, daughter and son, returned this morning from Duluth where they have been visiting for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walker, of Crookston, are in the city visiting with Mr. and Mrs. John McCarthy.

Miss Carrie Hughey returned to the normal at St. Cloud this afternoon.

J. H. Koop left for Duluth yesterday afternoon.

Inventory is being taken of the Henry I. Cohen stock of dry goods, groceries and notions, and the store will be closed today and tomorrow. J. F. McGinnis will probably be in charge Wednesday morning.

Miss Eleanor Just returned to Evanston, Ill., to continue her studies after spending the holidays in the city with relatives and friends.

Attorney L. E. Lum of Duluth, is in the city for a few days on business.

J. P. McGinnis returned to Duluth this afternoon to continue his studies.

GRAND JURY CALLED IN CHICAGO TO INVESTIGATE CRIME

Chicago, Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—Judge John J. Sullivan of the circuit court today authorized John A. Swanson, state's attorney of Cook county, to issue a call for the ninth special grand jury to investigate the alleged alliance between crime and politics in Chicago.

The order specified that a call for 75 veniremen should be issued for January 9.

STATE FAIR MADE PROFIT

The Minnesota State Fair and Northwest Livestock show made a net profit of $12,780.00 in the operation of the 1928 fair, according to the annual report of Secretary Thomas H. Canfield, filed with Governor Theodore Christianson.

With an increased profit, increased attendance, and the best balanced educational program in years, the 1928 exposition will go down in the records as one of the outstanding fairs of the years. Officials are elated over the showing, for it is the best record that has been made in several seasons, and indicates that agricultural conditions in the Northwest are on the upgrade.

An idea of the immensity of the State Fair can be gleaned from a glance at the receipts and disbursements. Total receipts of the fair were $401,310.47. Total expense of the fair was $388,530.47. Cash receipts from ticket sales, outside gates, grandstand and horse show, were $267,083.75. The remainder of the receipts came from the sale of exhibit space, concessions and percentages from rides and attractions.

Resuorces of the State Fair now total $2,577,153.79. Land is valued at $1,073,143.01, and buildings at $1,305,157.00. Cash on hand November 30 was $89,145.22. Personal property is listed at $107,236.91 and accounts receivable at $2,471.65.

Appropriations made by the state for land, buildings, improvements and maintenance since the Fair was organized total $1,559,499.90. The net surplus to the state from increase of land values and profits of fairs reinvested in permanent improvements is $1,017,652.32.

The attendance at the 1928 Fair was 457,212, the best since 1920. The perfect weather of the week brought out record breaking crowds nearly every day, Monday, Labor day, being the banner day with 131,696 persons milling about the grounds.

The report shows that 8,355 exhibitors participated at this year's Fair, the greatest number in history. The attendance at the grandstand was 148,850 and at the night horse show, 13,385.

UNEARTHS INDIAN CORN MEAL CRUSHER

Robert Jaeger, Cemetery Superintendent Finds Unique Stone While Digging Grave

Cemetery Hill Believed Location of Old Indian Gathering Place

While spading the ground for a grave about 100 feet east of the office at Evergreen cemetery today, Robert Jaeger, superintendent, unearthed a most unique stone which historians here assert is an Indian meal pounder used by Indians for crushing corn.

Mr. Jaeger who has been superintendent at the cemetery for the past 16 years stated that in all his experience he has not found another stone of its kind there.

The stone is oblong in shape and perfectly smooth. It is at present on display at the Brainerd Dispatch office.

Presence of the stone further substantiates the belief that the cemetery hill was at one time a gathering place for Indians, and that part of the present cemetery is an old Indian burial ground.

400 DELEGATES ARE TO ATTEND

EVERY COUNTY IN STATE REPRESENTED AT COUNTY FAIR FEDERATION MEETING

Four hundred delegates, representing every county in the state, will attend the annual meeting of the State Agricultural Society and the Federation of County Fairs, to be held in the new Nicollet Hotel, Minneapolis, January 9, 10 and 11.

Speakers of international prominence in the fair world have been obtained for the programs. Charles V. Truax, Director of Agriculture, State of Ohio, will be one of the principal speakers on the State Agricultural Society program.

Mr. Truax is one of the best known men in fairdom. For the past eight years he has been director of agriculture in the Buckeye state during which time he has had supervision of the state fair. Mr. Truax has chosen as his subject "The Future of State Fairs." He has made an intensive study of fairs in recent years, and undoubtedly will have many interesting facts to present to his audience. He is not only an authority on fair matters, but farm problems as well.

Another outstanding authority on the Thursday program is H. W. Waters of Toronto. Mr. Waters is general manager of the Canadian National Exhibition, the world's greatest fair institution. Mr. Waters has been connected with the Canadian National Exhibition for many years, and is one of the best posted fair executives in America. He will explain the methods employed in the management of the Exhibition, and will tell how the educational and entertainment program is built up each year, and will also give a history of the development of the properties of the great exhibition.

The State Agricultural Society meeting will be called to order by President W. F. Sanger at 10 a. m. Wednesday morning. After a half hour business session the meeting will adjourn until Thursday morning. The remainder of Wednesday will be given over to the session of the Federation of County Fairs.

Mr. Sanger will again preside at Thursday's meeting. After being welcomed by a representative of the city of Minneapolis Mr. Sanger will give his president's address. The reports of Thomas H. Canfield, secretary and W. H. Honebrink, treasurer, will follow. There will be several addresses to augment those of Truax and Waters.

The election of officers will be the principal business on the Friday calendar. A president, vice president from the Fourth Congressional District and representatives from the Second, Eighth and Tenth Congressional District to the Board of Governors will be elected.

L. O. Jacob of Anoka will preside at the meetings of the Federation of County Fairs. Speakers on the Federation program Wednesday are William Schilling of Northfield, Dean W. C. Coffey, University Farm, Raymond A. Lee of Long Prairie and others.

Following the election of officers the meeting will adjourn for the annual banquet and dance to be staged in the ball room of the hotel.

mil Jannings and Ruth Chatterton in the Paramount Picture "Sins of the Fathers"

One of the most notable casts yet assembled at the Paramount studios in Hollywood will be seen in Emil Jannings' new starring production, "Sins of the Fathers," now playing at the Lyceum theatre.

Jannings plays a German-American, Wilhelm Spengler. Ruth Chatterton, former stage star, is Gretta, who steals Spengler from his first wife, which role ZaSu Pitts portrays. Matthew Betz is Gus, the menace of the story, and Jean Arthur is Jannings' daughter. Barry Norton, the "mama's boy" of "What Price Glory," has been assigned the role of the star's son. Jack Luden, featured player under contract to Paramount, will be seen as Otto, a friend of the family.

ROOSEVELT, N. Y. GOVERNOR, TO FOLLOW SMITH

MESSAGE EMBODIES AND EXPANDS POLICIES OF HIS PREDECESSOR

PLEADS FOR CO-OPERATION OF BOTH PARTIES IN ENACTING LEGISLATION

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3.—(UP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt, new governor of New York, mentioned by some as the next democratic presidential candidate, sent a message to the state legislature yesterday embodying and expanding the policies of his predecessor, Alfred E. Smith.

Roosevelt pleaded for co-operation of both parties in enacting beneficial legislation, pointing out that "most of our problems are not political."

He advocated appointment of a commission to study state farm problems and reduce farm taxes. Like Smith, he favored public retention of water power sites, but urged action this year in developing them.

Roosevelt urged carrying forward of social welfare reforms and public works programs.

Roosevelt was inauguated Tuesday in an impressive service. He received the honors from the retiring governor, Alfred E. Smith, and in a short inauguration address pleaded for more co-operation between the people and the government.

HEARST AND DURANT CONFER

BOTH HOPE TO GET TOGETHER ON COMMON GROUND OF TEMPERANCE

New York, Jan. 3.—(UP)—W. C. Durant, who paid $25,000 for a plan to enforce prohibition, and W. R. Hearst, who has offered $25,000 for a plan to repeal it, sought to get together today on the common ground of temperance.

Durant sent a telegram to Hearst congratulating him upon "this contribution of yours to the question: Are the American people ready to give up and admit the failure of this (prohibition), the greatest experiment ever undertaken by a free people?"

To which Hearst replied: "We are not so far apart as might seem at first glance—I can assume, I think, that we are both equally sincerely interested in the cause of temperance; and the only difference between us is a difference of opinion as to what is the best means of promoting the cause."

The prize offered by Durant was won by Major Chester P. Mills, former prohibition administrator of the New York district.

Hearst has not yet announced the rules for the submission of proposals in his contest.

RIEGELS MAKES HAROLD LLOYD PLAY

YOU all remember the Harold Lloyd football play where Harold, he of the horn-rimmed spectacles, carried the ball to his own goal line, but redeemed himself by turning around and then racing the entire length of the field to make a touchdown in the right place—well, the first part of the horse play was actually duplicated by Roy Riegels of the California Golden Tornado. Fact of the matter is that Riegels had been pounded so badlly in rushes that he was sort of "punch drunk" and ran for the first goal posts he saw. All California, including the announcer at the microphone, yelled, "Oh, my God, run the other way," but Riegels presumably thought the racket was applause to cheer him on his way. Benny Lom hung at his flank and at length floored him with a desperate tackle.

Kenneth Haycraft, Minnesota's All-American end of 1928, writes the play was a perfect replica of Harold Lloyd's, "The Freshman," and that it will stand as a classic blunder.

Of all boners, the only duplicate, as looked up by Alan J. Gould, sports writer of the Associated Press, is that of "Snooks" Dowd, one-time major league ball player, who ran nearly 200 yards for a touchdown—some 70 yards to his own goal and then upon discovery of his error, over 100 yards the right way for a score, including the distance across field. But Riegels had no such luck.

Ed Thorp, referee, thinks Riegels was spun around in a mass play, and emerged, losing his sense of direction.

LEGION STAND ON LEGISLATION

LEGISLATION on which the state department of the American Legion will take a stand when the State Legislature convenes next week includes a number of conservation measures.

In an endeavor to avoid conflict with two national holidays, a change is sought by the Legion in the opening of the deer hunting and fishing seasons. The deer hunting season as proposed by the Legion would begin after November 11, to avoid shooting on Armistice Day, while the southern zone fishing season on certain varieties would open early in June to avoid angling on Memorial Day.

Legislation authorizing the damming of lakes and rivers in northeastern Minnesota will be opposed, provided such movements conflict with beauty and hunting possibilities of that region.

Legislative proposals include provisions made for families of war veterans under hospital care, who are unable to provide financial support for their wives and children.

Stimulation of aviation; conversion of Birch Coulee battle ground into a state memorial park; registration of graves and strengthening of soldiers preference law; attempt to remove military training requirements of University of Minnesota, according to Chairman of Legislative Committee R. C. Engan, will be opposed.

ON WRONG TRACK

WE think publishers of the country who are condemning the Minnesota law which enables the courts to clamp the lid down on newspapers that overstep the limits of decency in their published articles, are on the wrong track and are wasting a lot of energy in a misdirected effort, says the Long Prairie Leader.

If "free speech" permits a newspaper to be merely a sewer for scandal and racy sensationalism, then The Leader would like to be recorded as favoring a revised definition of free speech. The newspapers that have been restrained through court action under the Minnesota law should have been restrained. They were published for no other purpose than to make commerce of dirty and sensational gossip and to broadcast scandals for morbid and evil minds. Clamping the lid down on such publications in no way interferes with the rights of "free speech" except through a perverted and distorted idea of what constitutes free speech.

The newspaper organizations that are out to fight the Minnesota law are lowering themselves and are making themselves ridiculous in the public mind, says The Leader in conclusion.

THE JANUARY 1 BILLS

IF you owe anyone for anything, you are pretty sure to get a bill for it on January 1, says the St. Cloud Daily Times. One of the very best ways of saying Happy New Year here in St. Cloud is to sit down at your desk and write checks for all those bills. You have little conception of what it would mean to some people who have trouble in collecting their accounts.

Some business men are always trembling on the verge of bankruptcy, when if they could collect what is due to them they would be perfectly solvent. Every year there is a tremendous record of business failures in this country. Probably not half of them would occur, if people would pay what they owe. The great weight of unpaid debts is a load that breaks the back of many hopeful enterprises and ruins many lives.

IT is pleasant to note in Brainerd that we still believe in the efficacy of the family doctor. True, once in a while we have a patient going to the large cities, and invariably the specialist merely confirms what the family doctor diagnosed.

MILTON CRANDALL'S talking marathon was a flop in New York. It is said many men were not interested in the possibility of a woman talking 42 hours straight.

COLD weather has no effect on the steam shovel and trucks operating on excavation work at the new high school. A record is being made in excavation work.

IT would simplify bookkeeping and put a stimulus in business if we adopted the Chinese habit of paying all our debts at the opening of the New Year.

NEW YEAR'S eve was celebrated quietly in Brainerd and the noise was largely absent. A few whistles tooted and several shots were fired on the south side.

A GENERAL tariff revision is a momentous matter, for its effects will be felt in every nook and corner of the United States.

Peaks of Desire

CHAPTER LIV.

WHEN Detective Murray called Ann was amazed at the skillful nonchalance of Jerry Dunn in handling him. Murray, a broad-faced, broad-shod individual, beamed with pleasure at finding his friend Jerry Dunn on the job.

"Anything on the hip, kid?" Jerry inquired pleasantly.

"Sure." Murray's voice was heavy but pleasant. "This stuff is right off the boat." The two men drank from a common flask.

"I've been working on this case myself," Jerry told Murray genially, "and I can probably save you a lot of running around. You're looking for a guy named Harrison, ain't you?"

"His name was on the report," the detective said, reaching in his pocket and fumbling with a sheaf of papers.

"Well, don't waste any time thinking about Harrison," Jerry advised with assurance. "He happens to live in my rooming house and he no more had a hand in this than you did. He's an honest hard-working guy and it would be a shame to mix him up in something just because he happened to call here at the theatre for the young lady in the box office."

Murray scowled. It was his way of registering deep thought. "Maybe the same fellows that robbed that delicatessen store over on Blaine Avenue last week done this job, too. There was three of 'em and they slugged the proprietor."

"A hundred to one you're right," Jerry flattered Murray. "If you're as smart as I think you are you'll start working on that line and not waste your time on a lot of applesauce that people put out when they're excited. It seems like every sucker on earth tries to tell a cop his business with the result that nine-tenths of your time is wasted running around in circles.

Murray nodded wisely. "It's me that knows it, kid," he said. "How about another little drink?"

When the detective had gone Ann felt a mysterious weight lift from her spirits. Murray was the first real detective she had ever seen and he was utterly unlike the criminal chasers of stage and fiction. He had been so casually omnipotent—

"It's a lucky break for us Murray is alone on the case," Jerry told her. "At that, I think we did steer off the false angle. I don't believe myself for an instant that Steve Harrison ever slugged and robbed Pagalos, although the circumstantial evidence fits him as neatly as a tailor-made suit. On the level, Ann, I feel like a Boy Scout—I've done my one good deed for the day."

"I've got to go to the office now and I'll probably be inside all day writing the feature story. If anything comes up phone me right away."

The balance of the afternoon began to slip rapidly into the usual routine. Ann answered the telephone calls and put aside tickets for customers. Several people dropped in and paid cash for seats for the evening performance. A scrub woman came in and complained of a lack of soap. There was a request from the ingenue for a five dollar advance on her salary to buy a pair of silk stockings. Things like that.

The phone rang and it was Steve. "You still sore at me?" he asked.

"Of course not—I want to see you," she said hastily.

"I'm leaving at six o'clock for Chicago," he told her. "I thought I never wanted to hear your voice again but it's too tough—going away like this when I'm all upset inside me."

There was a hard, sharp fact inside her mind. Steve Harrison was a fool to leave town. Evidently he did not know of the robbery yet; should suspicion again revert to him his departure would look like flight. It would be almost positive evidence of guilt.

"I've got to see you," she urged him. "It's important. You've got to come to the theatre right away."

"I'll be there," he said.

When he came his eyes were slightly red as though he needed sleep and his sharp edge of desperation had dulled to flat unhappiness.

"You didn't sleep at home last night," she accused him.

"I walked around most of the time and slept on a bench in the park."

Carefully, as though she were drilling a lesson into his reluctant mind, Ann told him every scrap of detail about the assault and robbery. Point after point she made to show him that he might easily be suspected and convicted as the criminal.

"That ain't got nothing to do with me," he answered, with a trace of stubbornness. "I didn't do it."

"I know you didn't," she retorted angrily. "But you can't run away, all the same."

"Do you want me to stay?" His voice had changed. "If I thought you meant it——"

"It's common sense," she told him energetically. "I don't want to see you take a chance of getting in wrong, Steve. Somehow I feel responsible for you in a way——"

Even as she spoke, a faint tremor of the old thrill at his presence began to creep over her. But it was different this time—more tender. He was like a great boy wilfully bent upon his own destruction and all that was maternal in her throbbed faintly with regret. Had he been merely stupid her pity might have been mingled with contempt, but Steve Harrison was not without mind, without brain power. His trouble was that he had not yet learned to direct his intelligence, and his forces were scattered. Beneath the surface, she still believed there was something fine in him and it was a tragedy to see it stumble and fall into extinction.

"The trouble is," he said hopelessly, "that I can't stand to be around and see you falling for that fellow Jerry Dunn."

"Jerry Dunn has nothing whatever to do with it," Ann said briskly.

"I can't talk to you in a place like this," Steve protested. "Too many people coming around and we can't be our natural selves. I don't give a damn about common sense—all I want is you. Sometimes I feel like you belong to me and that we were born for each other. If I could just grab you in my arms and carry you off with me—we wouldn't either of us have anything to worry about. We'd have each other and it would be like Heaven."

Once more, the old rush of his power began to seep through Ann; once more she was beginning to tremble.

ing without a miss, the crew was happy, and army officials predicted the Question Mark would shatter all aircraft sustained flight records.

One record already has fallen before the Question Mark, the American refueling endurance record of 37 hours and 15 minutes set by Lieutenants L. Smith and Paul Richter in an army plane in 1923 at San Diego.

It seemed certain that the world's refueling endurance flight, 65 hours and seven minutes, held by Belgian aviators, also would be overcome.

After that, the Question Mark intends to go on and on until its motors wear away or its men break under the strain.

The motors and the men appeared good for a long grind today. Messages from the plane said no engine trouble had been experienced and the five army officers comprising the crew seemed to be taking the flight as a holiday event.

Fog at San Diego kept the ship circling over Los Angeles and adjacent cities through the night and fuel was taken on three times at Van Nuys field.

On the first contact, established after some difficulty in the dark morning hours, 100 gallons of gasoline passed from the Van Nuys refueling ship to the Question Mark. On the second, 150 gallons were transferred as the 48-hour mark passed and on the third oil for the motors and breakfast for the crew was swung aboard.

Major Carl Spatz, flight commander, signalled that all was well with his crew, composed of Capt. Ira Eaker, Lieutenants E. Quesada and Harry Halverson, and Sergt. Roy Hooe.

Newspapers were sent to the Question Mark with breakfast to permit the five fliers to see what the world was reading about them.

For the most part, the members of the crew, when off duty, spend their time playing cards and reading, Maj. Spatz messaged.

He said that the meals were fine and were helping to keep up the morale of his men.

The crew asked for roast chicken for tonight and it will be swung aboard in one of the heavy metal containers used for such transfers.

Wants Investigation of Alleged Propaganda Influencing Peace Pact

Washington, Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—Rep. Tinkham, Rep., Mass., prepared a resolution today calling for an investigation of expenditures of international bankers, international business organizations, and foreign interests to influence congress in relation to United States foreign policies, especially regarding the Kellogg peace pact.

"A network of expensive organized propaganda and intrigue to influence the foreign policies of the United States would be revealed by such an investigation," Tinkham said. "This nefarious practice should be exposed."

Tinkham said vast sums of money were expended to influence the United States to join the League of Nations and when this proposal was defeated, to adhere to the permanent court of international justice of the league.

"This attempt having failed, immense sums are now being expended to influence the United States to accept the multilateral treaty," he said.

TRIAL OF SCREEN ACTRESS IS SET FOR JANUARY 8

Los Angeles, Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—Trial of Alma Rubens, film actress, on a charge of disturbing the peace, has been set for January 8. The actress, who requested a jury trial, is named in a complaint sworn out by Mrs. M. Uhr, owner of the Bungalow Court in which Miss Rubens resides. The actress was charged with having entertained with wild parties and use of profane language.

NEW CHEMICAL ELEMENTS AID TO TELEVISION

KNOWN TECHNICALLY AS NO. 85 AND NO. 87 IN CHEMISTRY

SO FAR THEY HAVE DEFIED ALL ATTEMPTS AT ISOLATION

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 3. — (U.P.)—At least one of the two remaining undiscovered chemical elements, known technically as No. 85 and No. 87, may insure the success of television, according to Dr. B. Smith Hopkins, professor of inorganic chemistry of the University of Illinois and discoverer of illinium, the newest element to be discovered and the only one discovered in the western hemisphere which has filled a blank place in the table of elements.

So far, these two elements (85 and 87) have defied the skill of scientists to isolate them in their pure state. In fact all that is known about them is that from past experience scientists have reason to believe that they do exist and have properties that can be definitely predicted. They base the latter contention on the known characteristics in the basic chemical chart.

These elements should belong to separate groups, according to Dr. Hopkins. Number 85 should resemble iodine in properties and No. 87 should be like cesium, rubidium, potassium and sodium. In the case of the latter, it should have radio active properties that would make it valuable in television work.

Potassium is now used extensively in the preparation of tubes used in this new radio appliance and it is believed that No. 87 will reveal similar properties except that it will be more radio active and consequently will be the key to the future success of television.

"The one great difficulty in using these elements may be that they are very short lived, or, in other words would disappear soon after they are isolated," Dr. Hopkins said. "However by the time they have been isolated in the pure state it is possible that modern chemistry will eventually find a way to utilize them."

Modern Engineering To Save Niagara Falls

Washington, Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—Modern engineering will be called upon to save Niagara Falls so that hundreds of thousands of honeymooners in generations to come may gaze with awe upon its majestic splendor, according to the terms of a convention signed between the United States and Canada.

Power diversion has proved a heavy drain upon the millions of gallons of water which roar daily over the Horseshoe and American falls. Consequently the flanks of the Horseshoe have been bared and the American fall thinned out.

To correct this serious damage the two governments propose construction of submerged weirs, which will re-water the Horseshoe flanks and insure an adequate flow over the American falls. The estimated cost of construction was placed at $1,750,000 to be borne jointly by the two governments.

Under the board's plan exposed shoals above the falls will be removed and weirs or submerged dams constructed under the surface to distribute water over the entire shelf just prior to its drop over the Horseshoe.

WHEN Detective Murray called Ann was amazed at the skillful nonchalance of Jerry Dunn in handling him. Murray, a broad-faced, broad-shod individual, beamed with pleasure at finding his friend Jerry Dunn on the job.

"Anything on the hip, kid?" Jerry inquired pleasantly.

"Sure." Murray's voice was heavy but pleasant. "This stuff is right off the boat." The two men drank from a common flask.

"I've been working on this case myself," Jerry told Murray genially, "and I can probably save you a lot of running around. You're looking for a guy named Harrison, ain't you?"

"His name was on the report," the detective said, reaching in his pocket and fumbling with a sheaf of papers.

"Well, don't waste any time thinking about Harrison," Jerry advised with assurance. "He happens to live in my rooming house and he no more had a hand in this than you did. He's an honest hard-working guy and it would be a shame to mix him up in something just because he happened to call here at the theatre for the young lady in the box office."

Murray scowled. It was his way of registering deep thought. "Maybe the same fellows that robbed that delicatessen store over on Blaine Avenue last week done this job, too. There was three of 'em and they slugged the proprietor."

"A hundred to one you're right," Jerry flattered Murray. "If you're as smart as I think you are you'll start working on that line and not waste your time on a lot of applesauce that people put out when they're excited. It seems like every sucker on earth tries to tell a cop his business with the result that nine-tenths of your time is wasted running around in circles."

Murray nodded wisely. "It's me that knows it, kid," he said. "How about another little drink?"

When the detective had gone Ann felt a mysterious weight lift from her spirits. Murray was the first real detective she had ever seen and he was utterly unlike the criminal chasers of stage and fiction. He had been so casually omnipotent—

"It's a lucky break for us Murray is alone on the case," Jerry told her. "At that, I think we did steer off the false angle. I don't believe myself for an instant that Steve Harrison ever slugged and robbed Pagalos, although the circumstantial evidence fits him as neatly as a tailor-made suit. On the level, Ann, I feel like a Boy Scout—I've done my one good deed for the day."

"I've got to go to the office now and I'll probably be inside all day writing the feature story. If anything comes up phone me right away."

The balance of the afternoon began to slip rapidly into the usual routine. Ann answered the telephone calls and put aside tickets for customers. Several people dropped in and paid cash for seats for the evening performance. A scrub woman came in and complained of a lack of soap. There was a request from the ingenue for a five dollar advance on her salary to buy a pair of silk stockings. Things like that.

The phone rang and it was Steve. "You still sore at me?" he asked.

"Of course not—I want to see you," she said hastily.

"I'm leaving at six o'clock for Chicago," he told her. "I thought I never wanted to hear your voice again but it's too tough—going away like this when I'm all upset inside me."

There was a hard, sharp fact inside her mind. Steve Harrison was a fool to leave town. Evidently he did not know of the robbery yet; should suspicion again revert to him his departure would look like flight. It would be almost positive evidence of guilt.

"I've got to see you," she urged him. "It's important. You've got to come to the theatre right away."

"I'll be there," he said.

When he came his eyes were slightly red as though he needed sleep and his sharp edge of desperation had dulled to flat unhappiness.

"You didn't sleep at home last night," she accused him.

"I walked around most of the time and slept on a bench in the park."

Carefully, as though she were drilling a lesson into his reluctant mind, Ann told him every scrap of detail about the assault and robbery. Point after point she made to show him that he might easily be suspected and convicted as the criminal.

"That ain't got nothing to do with me," he answered, with a trace of stubbornness. "I didn't do it."

"I know you didn't," she retorted angrily. "But you can't run away, all the same."

"Do you want me to stay?" His voice had changed. "If I thought you meant it——"

"It's common sense," she told him energetically. "I don't want to see you take a chance of getting in wrong, Steve. Somehow I feel responsible for you in a way——"

Even as she spoke, a faint tremor of the old thrill at his presence began to creep over her. But it was different this time—more tender. He was like a great boy wilfully bent upon his own destruction and all that was maternal in her throbbed faintly with regret. Had he been merely stupid her pity might have been mingled with contempt, but Steve Harrison was not without mind, without brain power. His trouble was that he had not yet learned to direct his intelligence, and his forces were scattered. Beneath the surface, she still believed there was something fine in him and it was a tragedy to see it stumble and fall into extinction.

"The trouble is," he said hopelessly, "that I can't stand to be around and see you falling for that fellow Jerry Dunn."

"Jerry Dunn has nothing whatever to do with it," Ann said briskly.

"I can't talk to you in a place like this," Steve protested. "Too many people coming around and we can't be our natural selves. I don't give a damn about common sense—all I want is you. Sometimes I feel like you belong to me and that we were born for each other. If I could just grab you in my arms and carry you off with me—we wouldn't either of us have anything to worry about. We'd have each other and it would be like Heaven."

Once more, the old rush of his power began to seep through Ann; once more she was beginning to tremble.

One record already has fallen before the Question Mark, the American refueling endurance record of 37 hours and 15 minutes set by Lieutenants L. Smith and Paul Richter in an army plane in 1923 at San Diego.

It seemed certain that the world's refueling endurance flight, 65 hours and seven minutes, held by Belgian aviators, also would be overcome.

After that, the Question Mark intends to go on and on until its motors wear away or its men break under the strain.

The motors and the men appeared good for a long grind today. Messages from the plane said no engine trouble had been experienced and the five army officers comprising the crew seemed to be taking the flight as a holiday event.

Fog at San Diego kept the ship circling over Los Angeles and adjacent cities through the night and fuel was taken on three times at Van Nuys field.

On the first contact, established after some difficulty in the dark morning hours, 100 gallons of gasoline passed from the Van Nuys refueling ship to the Question Mark. On the second, 150 gallons were transferred as the 48-hour mark passed and on the third oil for the motors and breakfast for the crew was swung aboard.

Major Carl Spatz, flight commander, signalled that all was well with his crew, composed of Capt. Ira Eaker, Lieutenants E. Quesada and Harry Halverson, and Sergt. Roy Hooe.

Newspapers were sent to the Question Mark with breakfast to permit the five fliers to see what the world was reading about them.

For the most part, the members of the crew, when off duty, spend their time playing cards and reading, Maj. Spatz messaged.

He said that the meals were fine and were helping to keep up the morale of his men.

The crew asked for roast chicken for tonight and it will be swung aboard in one of the heavy metal containers used for such transfers.

Wants Investigation of Alleged Propaganda Influencing Peace Pact

Washington, Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—Rep. Tinkham, Rep., Mass., prepared a resolution today calling for an investigation of expenditures of international bankers, international business organizations, and foreign interests to influence congress in relation to United States foreign policies, especially regarding the Kellogg peace pact.

"A network of expensive organized propaganda and intrigue to influence the foreign policies of the United States would be revealed by such an investigation," Tinkham said. "This nefarious practice should be exposed."

Tinkham said vast sums of money were expended to influence the United States to join the League of Nations and when this proposal was defeated, to adhere to the permanent court of international justice of the league.

"This attempt having failed, immense sums are now being expended to influence the United States to accept the multilateral treaty," he said.

TRIAL OF SCREEN ACTRESS IS SET FOR JANUARY 8

Los Angeles, Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—Trial of Alma Rubens, film actress, on a charge of disturbing the peace, has been set for January 8. The actress, who requested a jury trial, is named in a complaint sworn out by Mrs. M. Uhr, owner of the Bungalow Court in which Miss Rubens resides. The actress was charged with having entertained with wild parties and use of profane language.

NEW CHEMICAL ELEMENTS AID TO TELEVISION

KNOWN TECHNICALLY AS NO. 85 AND NO. 87 IN CHEMISTRY

SO FAR THEY HAVE DEFIED ALL ATTEMPTS AT ISOLATION

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 3. — (U.P.)—At least one of the two remaining undiscovered chemical elements, known technically as No. 85 and No. 87, may insure the success of television, according to Dr. B. Smith Hopkins, professor of inorganic chemistry of the University of Illinois and discoverer of illinium, the newest element to be discovered and the only one discovered in the western hemisphere which has filled a blank place in the table of elements.

So far, these two elements (85 and 87) have defied the skill of scientists to isolate them in their pure state. In fact all that is known about them is that from past experience scientists have reason to believe that they do exist and have properties that can be definitely predicted. They base the latter contention on the known characteristics in the basic chemical chart.

These elements should belong to separate groups, according to Dr. Hopkins. Number 85 should resemble iodine in properties and No. 87 should be like cesium, rubidium, potassium and sodium. In the case of the latter, it should have radio active properties that would make it valuable in television work.

Potassium is now used extensively in the preparation of tubes used in this new radio appliance and it is believed that No. 87 will reveal similar properties except that it will be more radio active and consequently will be the key to the future success of television.

"The one great difficulty in using these elements may be that they are very short lived, or, in other words would disappear soon after they are isolated," Dr. Hopkins said. "However by the time they have been isolated in the pure state it is possible that modern chemistry will eventually find a way to utilize them."

Modern Engineering To Save Niagara Falls

Washington, Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—Modern engineering will be called upon to save Niagara Falls so that hundreds of thousands of honeymooners in generations to come may gaze with awe upon its majestic splendor, according to the terms of a convention signed between the United States and Canada.

Power diversion has proved a heavy drain upon the millions of gallons of water which roar daily over the Horseshoe and American falls. Consequently the flanks of the Horseshoe have been bared and the American fall thinned out.

To correct this serious damage the two governments propose construction of submerged weirs, which will re-water the Horseshoe flanks and insure an adequate flow over the American falls. The estimated cost of construction was placed at $1,750,000 to be borne jointly by the two governments.

Under the board's plan exposed shoals above the falls will be removed and weirs or submerged dams constructed under the surface to distribute water over the entire shelf just prior to its drop over the Horseshoe.

BRAINERD-ST. CLOUD SCOUT AREAS TO JOIN

Plan to Unite Two Areas for Greater Benefits Announced Here Today

COUNCILS TO MEET

Proposed Consolidation Will Not Take Effect Until After April 1

Boy Scout areas, the Crow Wing area and the St. Cloud area will be united after April 1, following a tentative agreement between the two councils which will in all probability be definitely agreed upon at a joint meeting of the two councils to be held sometime this month, it was announced from the scout office here today.

Under the tentative plan, headquarters for the enlarged area will be at St. Cloud with C. W. Armstrong as executive and S. C. Bakken, field executive with his headquarters at Brainerd.

The proposed consolidation, as outlined by scout officials here today, follows a move to stabilize scouting in the two areas and will tend to lighten the financial burden of scouting in this district.

Benefits to be derived from the proposed consolidation, as is the belief of scout officials here, include:

Increased service as the result of a two man staff.

Decreased expenses in the reduction of office staffs.

Increased resources resulting in further stabilization.

Two summer camps in place of one, each scout being privileged to select the camp he desires to attend, the one at Clearwater Lake and the St. Cloud camp at Spunk Lake.

Provides opportunity to clean up the Crow Wing area indebtedness by April 1.

A St. Cloud paper writes as follows concerning the proposed scout changes:

The local council of the Boy Scouts of America has taken necessary action to permit the inclusion of the former Brainerd scout area into the St. Cloud area, the St. Cloud area as it formerly existed to lose Kandiyohi and Swift counties to the Minneapolis area and Wadena county to the Park Region area.

As a result of the change C. W. Armstrong, St. Cloud council and area executive, will be in charge of all scouting activities in the new combined area and will be accorded an assistant, S. C. Bakken, who has acted as assistant camp director in this area for two summers past. Mr. Bakken will be field executive.

The new area will contain Stearns, Sherburne, Benton, Mille Lacs, Morrison, Todd, Crow Wing, Cass, Aitkin, part of Hubbard and Wright counties. As the Brainerd area boasted a north woods camp similar to the summer scout camp at Spunk Lake, boys in the area will be according their choice between two camps in the future, each with advantages that the other does not possess. The Brainerd area and St. Cloud area councils will be unified as a result of the change. The former Brainerd executive is going to Red Wing, Minn., to organize area work in the southern part of the state.

SOUTH LONG LAKE

Sunday school next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. A large attendance is earnestly solicited, let us start the New Year by attending Sunday school every Sunday, and trying to bring in new members.

We are pleased to know that Mrs. Carl Maust is getting along nicely after her operation.

Walter Eschenbacher is working in Brainerd at the old high school.

Little Mildred Peterson has been quite sick with bronchitis, but is now getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Smart were Brainerd shoppers Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Henningson motored to Brainerd Saturday.

John Stedtfeldt is quite sick with flu, and his little daughter is sick with measles. His friends all wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henningson had as their guests Sunday, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albin Maust, and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Henningson and son Bobby.

Mr. Brown was a Brainerd shopper last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sutton of Hibbing and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Scmoldt and family of Montevideo, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. LeDoux spent Christmas with Mrs. Scmoldt's, Mrs. LeDoux and Robert Sutton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Sutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Eschenbacher and family spent Christmas eve with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Senn.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamont and son Delbert went to Brainerd Saturday.

Mrs. S. F. Brown and son Arthur, are on the sick list, we hope to see them around again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henningson visited one afternoon of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kleinschmidt.

FACES FEDERAL CHARGE

Wesley E. Small, Ironton Bound Over to Duluth Court on Liquor Charge

Wesley E. Small, of Ironton, waived examination when brought before U. S. Commissioner A. D. Polk on the charge of sale and possession of liquor, December 31 and was bound over to the federal court at Duluth at the May term.

Small furnished bonds to the amount of $1,000.

BLIND LAKE

The Blind Lake correspondent heard a radio talk given by Rev. Smith of St. Paul which she thought worthy to pass on to other readers of the Dispatch. Rev. Smith stated in part that the only difference between the flu bug and the bug of discontent, grouchiness, crabbiness, unkindness, unfriendliness, etc., was that we could not get rid of the first mentioned bug at once, but we could get rid of the others, and it is a good thing not to let them get a grip on us. The action of these two bugs is very similar in that either of them will undermine our abilities, and if either gets a good grip, they may mean death, the flu bug bringing a natural death, the other making our lives useless and bringing death to our better qualities.

A Happy New Year to all.

The Roy Hardy family were guests of the Wm. Shepard family on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKeebe entertained Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Hough on Christmas day.

Ernest Fick came home Friday to spend the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Erickson and sons made a trip to Pine River Christmas eve to hear the program at the Lutheran church. The reports were that it was very good.

The iBen Mayer family and Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Mayer were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pratt on Christmas day.

Mrs. Wm. Shepard helped during Wednesday and the night at the H. Van Giffen home where the children were sick. All are much better at this writing.

The doctor at Pequot attended Mrs. Dick Sweet last week who was suffering from the measles and pneumonia. At this writing she is reported as improving. Those who have been assisting are Mrs. Shill, Mrs. Ralph Ducan, Mrs. Roy Hardy and Mrs. J. Dauber.

Those going to town last Friday were Ben Mayer and son Bennie, Enoch Mayer, Roy Hardy, William Shepard, John Herren and Fred McKeebe and son.

WABEDO

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Felton are on the gain after their siege of the flu. Grandma Felton of Pine River is caring for them.

Pine River shoppers during the last few days were Roy Whitted, Harry Zaske, Dr. N. H. Hough, Leslie Shepard, Geo. Ruscoe, John Herron.

The Elmer Norgan, Lewis Brochhagen and S. Whitted families were entertained Saturday evening at a 6 o'clock dinner at the Brockelmeyer home. The evening was spent at three tables of bunco.

Florence Nivai visited the past week at the Carpenter and Scott homes.

The measles in this vicinity seems to have run its course as there are no more new cases.

Tracy Shepard of Bagley came down Sunday with the truck to get some more of their things from the farm.

Mrs. Rex Saxton entertained her two small brothers, the Jordan boys, part of last week.

Geo. and Evert Felton were out from Pine River several times last week to call on the sick folks.

The Blind Lake ladies circle will not hold its January meeting on account of sickness but will meet in February with Mrs. Roy Hardy.

COUNTY PIONEER CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Betsey C. Erickson Passed Away Yesterday Following Stroke

45 YEARS IN DISTRICT

Was 67 Years Old, Came to Minnesota at Age of 10 Years; Was Widow of County Sheriff

Mrs. Betsey C. Erickson, widow of Ole P. Erickson, sheriff of Crow Wing county a number of years, a pioneer of Brainerd and Crow Wing county, passed away yesterday afternoon at 4:25 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Theodore Newgord, 512 North Fourth street at the age of 67 years.

Mrs. Erickson received a stroke last Saturday morning from which she failed to rally.

In the death of Mrs. Erickson, Brainerd and Crow Wing county loses one of its pioneers, she having lived in Brainerd and Crosby for 45 years. Born in Vermland, Sweden, she came to the United States with her parents, settling in Rice county, Minn. She was ten years old then and 22 years old when she came to Brainerd.

Her husband passed away 13 years ago in Crosby, five years after he left office as sheriff of Crow Wing county. After living in Crosby a number of years Mrs. Erickson returned to Brainerd five years ago.

She attended the Clara Lutheran church, Brainerd and was a member of the Degree of Honor.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Carl Shuholm, of Portland, Ore., Mrs. Theodore Newgord, Brainerd and one brother, William Johnson, of Portland. Two sons predeceased her, one in infancy, the other Lester, five years ago at the age of 27 years.

Mrs. Harry A. Rice, of Los Angeles, Calif., a sister also survives, besides four grandchildren.

Funeral rites will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Newgord, Rev. J. R. Michaelson officiating. Interment will be at Evergreen cemetery.

SWEDISH BETHANY FREE FROM DEBT

Mortgage Papers Burned December 31 in Celebration of Event

FAVORABLE BALANCE SHOWN

Oscar Swanson Heads Sunday School; Frank Anderson Named Chairman

The mortgage given at the time the Swedish Bethany church made their extensive improvements on the church some three years ago, was paid in full December 31, 1928, and the papers were burned at the annual meeting held New Year's eve. This was an event which had been looked forward for some time by the members of the church.

Reports given by the different societies of the church showed balances in all funds.

The report of the treasurer of the general and building funds, Arthur T. Anderson, showed that all indebtedness was paid, and that the balance on hand in all funds was well over $200.

A pleasing progress was shown in all branches of the church.

The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

Chairman—Frank Anderson.

Vice Chairman—John Soderlund.

Secretary—Albert O. Anderson.

Trustee for three years — Oscar Swanson.

Deacons—John Soderlund, Frank Anderson and Charles Swanson.

Deaconesses — Mrs. Peter Benson, Mrs. Andrew Anderson and Mrs. John Stenberg.

Organist—Mrs. P. G. Fallquist.

Collectors—Frank Anderson, Mrs. Oscar Swanson.

Ushers — Ralph Lindberg, Paul Swanson.

Sunday School Officers

The following officers were chosen for the Sunday school:

Superintendent—Oscar Swanson.

Vice Superintendent — Albert O. Anderson.

Secretary-Treasurer — Rev. P. G. Fallquist.

ATTORNEYS VISIT COURTNEY IN CELL

St. Paul Firm Representatives to Decide on Acceptance of Case This Afternoon

SISTER VISITS PRISONER

Trial of Courtney for Bank Robbery Complicity Opens Here January 7

Joe Courtney will have for his legal advisor M. F. Kinkead, head of a St. Paul law firm, staff members of the firm arrived here at 9 a. m. today.

The law firm will be ready for trial the morning of January 7, they stated.

Thomas W. McMeekin, prominent Twin City attorney, former Brainerd boy, will not be legal advisor for Joe Courtney in Courtney's trial for alleged complicity in the 1927 First National bank robbery which opens here January 7 it was authoritatively announced here today.

Mrs. Ethel Ruff, of Detroit, Mich., sister of Courtney, visited the prisoner at the county jail today accompanied by two St. Paul attorneys who will discuss the case with Courtney this afternoon before announcing acceptance or rejection of the case.

Attorneys who intervigwed Courtney this afternoon were John J. O'Brien and William F. Desmond, of the law firm headed by M. F. Kinkead, of St. Paul, former assistant county attorney of Ramsey county.

County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan will conduct the state's case against Courtney in district court.

Mr. McMeekin is reported to have refused the defense because of more pressing business.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO FLU

Coughs from Flu May Weaken Your System and Lead to Serious Trouble

You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion may help you avoid flu, but is not sold as a flu remedy. CREOMULSION

Help Check Influenza!

Local People Urged to Help Prevent Epidemic Spreading

Eat Wisely, Exercise Regularly, Keep Away From Crowded Places and Treat All Colds Promptly

Medical authorities now agree that influenza is a germ disease—most commonly spread by breathing in the germs. If the system is in good shape—the membrane of the air passages in a healthy condition—these germs do not usually breed. It is only when the bodily resistance is lowered that the germs do the most harm.

Start Protective Treatment at Once

Right now while influenza is so prevalent every precaution should be taken to protect the air passages. When you feel one of these "Flu Colds" coming on don't wait; start the following treatment at once:

Get a jar of Vicks VapoRub and place some up each nostril, or melt some in a bowl of hot water and inhale its medicated vapors. This helps to keep the air passages in a healthy condition, thus making it difficult for the germs to breed.

At bedtime take a laxative, if you are constipated, and rub Vicks VapoRub on the throat and chest. Vicks medicated vapors are then released by the heat of the body, and breathed in all night long, direct to the air passages. At the same time, Vicks acts through the skin like an old fashioned poultice, drawing out tightness and pain and helping the vapors to break up the congestion. If you feel feverish call a physician.

Avoid Crowds and Use Vicks Freely

It is best to keep away from sneezers and coughers in street cars and public places. If you must go out in crowded places insert some Vicks up each nostril before starting out. On returning home melt some Vicks in hot water and inhale the vapors. This is a simple precaution which everyone should take to prevent the flu spreading as it did in 1918 when millions of lives were lost.

BRAINERD-ST. CLOUD SCOUT AREAS TO JOIN

Plan to Unite Two Areas for Greater Benefits Announced Here Today

COUNCILS TO MEET

Proposed Consolidation Will Not Take Effect Until After April 1

Boy Scout areas, the Crow Wing area and the St. Cloud area will be united after April 1, following a tentative agreement between the two councils which will in all probability be definitely agreed upon at a joint meeting of the two councils to be held sometime this month, it was announced from the scout office here today.

Under the tentative plan, headquarters for the enlarged area will be at St. Cloud with C. W. Armstrong as executive and S. C. Bakken, field executive with his headquarters at Brainerd.

The proposed consolidation, as outlined by scout officials here today, follows a move to stabilize scouting in the two areas and will tend to lighten the financial burden of scouting in this district.

Benefits to be derived from the proposed consolidation, as is the belief of scout officials here, include:

Increased service as the result of a two man staff.

Decreased expenses in the reduction of office staffs.

Increased resources resulting in further stabilization.

Two summer camps in place of one, each scout being privileged to select the camp he desires to attend, the one at Clearwater Lake and the St. Cloud camp at Spunk Lake.

Provides opportunity to clean up the Crow Wing area indebtedness by April 1.

A St. Cloud paper writes as follows concerning the proposed scout changes:

The local council of the Boy Scouts of America has taken necessary action to permit the inclusion of the former Brainerd scout area into the St. Cloud area, the St. Cloud area as it formerly existed to lose Kandiyohi and Swift counties to the Minneapolis area and Wadena county to the Park Region area.

As a result of the change C. W. Armstrong, St. Cloud council and area executive, will be in charge of all scouting activities in the new combined area and will be accorded an assistant, S. C. Bakken, who has acted as assistant camp director in this area for two summers past. Mr. Bakken will be field executive.

The new area will contain Stearns, Sherburne, Benton, Mille Lacs, Morrison, Todd, Crow Wing, Cass, Aitkin, part of Hubbard and Wright counties. As the Brainerd area boasted a north woods camp similar to the summer scout camp at Spunk Lake, boys in the area will be according their choice between two camps in the future, each with advantages that the other does not possess. The Brainerd area and St. Cloud area councils will be unified as a result of the change. The former Brainerd executive is going to Red Wing, Minn., to organize area work in the southern part of the state.

SOUTH LONG LAKE

Sunday school next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. A large attendance is earnestly solicited, let us start the New Year by attending Sunday school every Sunday, and trying to bring in new members.

Wesley E. Small, of Ironton, waived examination when brought before U. S. Commissioner A. D. Polk on the charge of sale and possession of liquor, December 31 and was bound over to the federal court at Duluth at the May term.

Small furnished bonds to the amount of $1,000.

BLIND LAKE

The Blind Lake correspondent heard a radio talk given by Rev. Smith of St. Paul which she thought worthy to pass on to other readers of the Dispatch. Rev. Smith stated in part that the only difference between the flu bug and the bug of discontent, grouchiness, crabbiness, unkindness, unfriendliness, etc., was that we could not get rid of the first mentioned bug at once, but we could get rid of the others, and it is a good thing not to let them get a grip on us. The action of these two bugs is very similar in that either of them will undermine our abilities, and if either gets a good grip, they may mean death, the flu bug bringing a natural death, the other making our lives useless and bringing death to our better qualities.

A Happy New Year to all.

The Roy Hardy family were guests of the Wm. Shepard family on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKeebe entertained Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Hough on Christmas day.

Ernest Fick came home Friday to spend the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Erickson and sons made a trip to Pine River Christmas eve to hear the program at the Lutheran church. The reports were that it was very good.

The Ben Mayer family and Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Mayer were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pratt on Christmas day.

Mrs. Wm. Shepard helped during Wednesday and the night at the H. Van Giffen home where the children were sick. All are much better at this writing.

The doctor at Pequot attended Mrs. Dick Sweet last week who was suffering from the measles and pneumonia. At this writing she is reported as improving. Those who have been assisting are Mrs. Shill, Mrs. Ralph Ducan, Mrs. Roy Hardy and Mrs. J. Dauber.

Those going to town last Friday were Ben Mayer and son Bennie, Enoch Mayer, Roy Hardy, William Shepard, John Herren and Fred McKeebe and son.

WABEDO

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Felton are on the gain after their siege of the flu. Grandma Felton of Pine River is caring for them.

Pine River shoppers during the last few days were Roy Whitted, Harry Zaske, Dr. N. H. Hough, Leslie Shepard, Geo. Ruscoe, John Herron.

The Elmer Norgan, Lewis Brochhagen and S. Whitted families were entertained Saturday evening at a 6 o'clock dinner at the Brockelmeyer home. The evening was spent at three tables of bunco.

Florence Nivai visited the past week at the Carpenter and Scott homes.

The measles in this vicinity seems to have run its course as there are no more new cases.

Tracy Shepard of Bagley came down Sunday with the truck to get some more of their things from the farm.

Mrs. Rex Saxton entertained her two small brothers, the Jordan boys, part of last week.

Geo. and Evert Felton were out from Pine River several times last week to call on the sick folks.

The Blind Lake ladies circle will not hold its January meeting on account of sickness but will meet in February with Mrs. Roy Hardy.

SWEDISH BETHANY FREE FROM DEBT

FAVORABLE BALANCE SHOWN

Oscar Swanson Heads Sunday School; Frank Anderson Named Chairman

The mortgage given at the time the Swedish Bethany church made their extensive improvements on the church some three years ago, was paid in full December 31, 1928, and the papers were burned at the annual meeting held New Year's eve. This was an event which had been looked forward for some time by the members of the church.

Reports given by the different societies of the church showed balances in all funds.

The report of the treasurer of the general and building funds, Arthur T. Anderson, showed that all indebtedness was paid, and that the balance on hand in all funds was well over $200.

A pleasing progress was shown in all branches of the church.

The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

Chairman—Frank Anderson.

Vice Chairman—John Soderlund.

Secretary—Albert O. Anderson.

Trustee for three years — Oscar Swanson.

Deacons—John Soderlund, Frank Anderson and Charles Swanson.

Deaconesses — Mrs. Peter Benson, Mrs. Andrew Anderson and Mrs. John Stenberg.

CHARGES BOSTON COUNCIL WITH BRIBERY

BOSTON BRAVES PRESIDENT MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT

EMIL FUCHS TESTIFIED UNDER OATH THAT PAYMENTS WERE ASKED

WAS ASKED TO PAY $65,000 TO EXPEDITE ORDER PERMITTING SUNDAY SPORTS

Boston, Jan. 3.—(UP)—A triple investigation of the bribery charges of President Emil Fuchs of the Boston Braves, involving 13 members of the Boston city council, appeared imminent today.

Fuchs created a sensation late yesterday when, after being summoned before the Boston finance commission, he testified under oath that he had been asked to pay the councilmen $5,000 each—a total of $65,000—to expedite a passage of the order permitting professional Sunday sports in this city.

City Councilman William G. Lynch of South Boston was named by Fuchs as the man who demanded the "payment" on behalf of himself and 12 other members of the council.

District Attorney Foley announced that he would submit the case to the grand jury as soon as he received a transcript of the testimony before the finance commission.

ROY RIEGELS' WRONG-WAY RUN, TOPIC

FEELING AMONG THE FANS IS ONE OF REAL SYMPATHY

CALIFORNIA'S PLUCKY AND UNLUCKY CAPTAIN-ELECT

New York, Jan. 3. — (UP)—Now that the excitement inevitably attendant upon that wrong-way run of Roy Riegels in the Rose Bowl on New Year's day has died away, it is safe to say that the more lasting feeling among football fans everywhere will be one of real sympathy for California's plucky and unlucky captain-elect.

It is to be hoped that the same courage which enabled the husky young center of the Golden Bears to return to the game in the second half and rip the Georgia Tech line to shreds will help carry Riegels through the difficult period when memory of his blunder still is poignant.

Search of football annals has failed to reveal a similar play in major college circles. It occurred in the second period, with the score 0 to 0, and proved the turning point of a desperately contested game.

"Stumpy" Thomason, chunky back of Georgia Tech, fumbled on his own 25 yard line. Riegles, who had been badly battered in line plays opposite the mighty Peter Pund, seized the ball and started across the field.

"I looked around and saw some goal posts and made for them," he explained afterwards, scorning any one of a number of obvious alibis. He ran 70 yards or more towards his own goal, and was stopped at the goal line, too late to remedy his mistake.

After all, what was it that Riegels was doing? He had the will to win, and he was off, on bruised legs, with labored, aching lungs, to run as fast and as far as he could and score for California.

It is worth hoping that next fall's California eleven, under his leadership, will have a season so successful that Captain Roy Riegels' name will stand for football fame and not for that one mishap of New Year's day.

LEGION BOYS MEET FRAZEE CAVEMEN TOMORROW NIGHT

MANAGER LESTER PETERSON BOOKS TWO GAMES A WEEK AS SEASON'S SCHEDULE

TEAM SHOWS AN IMPROVEMENT WITH EACH GAME IN FLOOR WORK AND SHOOTING

Nursing bruises received in the strenuous game with Morris New Year's Day, the American Legion quint will journey to Frazee tomorrow night to meet the Cavemen.

To date this season the local independent cage team has been playing two games a week and winning its share of them. The long road trips, however, have proved tiring to the players although each player is improving rapidly in his floor work.

Games with Moose Lake and Little Falls have been arranged for next week, Lester Peterson, manager, announced today. Other games are being arranged with St. Cloud, Keewatin, Bovey, Nashwauk, Floodwood, Cloquet, Grand Rapids and a return game at Biwabik.

CHARGED HE GAVE CHAMPION MORGAN LOW BODY BLOW

OCCURRED IN 4TH ROUND OF NEW YEAR DAY MATCH

WISCONSIN COMMISSIONERS ALSO CENSURE MORGAN SEVERELY

Miwaukee, Wis., Jan. 3.—(UP)—The Wisconsin boxing commission has suspended Joey Sangor, junior lightweight contender, for thirty days for the low blow which he gave Tod Morgan, the champion, in the fourth round of their New Year day match here.

Severe censure was meted out to Morgan by the commissioners for the manner in which he used his thumb by leaving his glove open when feinting for an opening. Morgan's explanation was that the gloves he wore were faulty, but Henry Messier, custodian of the mittens, contended that the chmapion chose a perfect pair from the three sets offered.

It is generally agreed that Morgan had the fight won when the foul blow was struck and his sportsmanship in continuing the fight was praised by many fans.

THERE'S NO BEER AT WISCONSIN CAPITOL

Madison, Wis., Jan. 3.—(UP)—There isn't any beer beer in the Wisconsin capitol, federal prohibition agents were satisfied today after searching every nook and cranny of the big building.

The best sniffers on the local dry squad faled after a long and thorough hunt to find "a truckload of beer, stored in the capitol for a celebration."

Just what celebration the beer was intended for and who was to drink it was not made public by prohibition agents who worked until after dark last night.

C. B. Ballard, superintendent of public property and a lifelong dry, ordered the search after he heard that a truckload of brew had been stored in the capitol.

SURRENDER TERMS OF BANDIT MENDOZA OF MEXICO ACCEPTED

Mexico City, Jan. 3. — (UP) — President Emilio Portes Gil notified the military chief of operations today that the Mexican government accepts the terms of surrender asked by the famous bandit, Benjamin Mendoza, yesterday. Mendoza surrendered with 1,200 of his men yesterday.

Grants of land will be issued to those among the rebels who wish them and each rebel will be given $10 when he turns his rifle over to the authorities and $15 for his horse. Mendoza asked land grants and immunity for his men.

DIRECTORS OF WOMEN'S ATHLETICS GATHER AT NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 3.—(UP)—Directors of women's athletics from all parts of the United States meet here today for the opening sessions of the fifth annual convention of the women's division of the National Amateur Athletic federation.

The general theme of the convention, officials of the federation say, is "athletic competition for women—more rather than less, but the right kind." The meeting is expected to go on record as being opposed to what the federation terms the overtraining of girl athletes for the Olympic games.

An attempt also is expected to be made to frame a program of intramural sports for girls of the school age.

FORCED DOWN ON MISSION OF MERCY

CAPTAIN "WOP" MAY WAS CARRYING SERUM TO FIGHT DIPHTHERIA

DOWN AT McLENNAN WHILE ON WAY TO FROZEN NORTH

Edmonton, Alberta, Jan. 3. — (UP) —Forced down at McLennan, Alberta, with his precious cargo of anti-toxin serum, Captain "Wop" May, today was reported preparing to resume his journey to the diphtheria infested regions of the frozen north.

Captain May hopped off Wednesday with 500,000 units of anti-toxin and pointed his plane towards Fort Vermillion and Little Red river where diphtheria was reported prevalent.

The message requesting the serum had started out from Little Red river by dog-sled on Dec. 18. Many days later it reached Peace river, 167 miles south from there was relayed Wednesday to Edmonton by wire. Dr. H. A. Hamman, said in the message that A. Logan, factor of the Hudson Bay Company post at Fort Vermillion had died of the disease.

It was not known what caused Captain May's landing at McLennan, 200 miles north of Edmonton, and 400 miles south of Fort Vermillion. Flyers here assumed it was minor motor trouble which could easily be repaired.

In addition to the fact that the flight to Fort Vermillion had never before been attempted there was the added fear that there was not sufficient gasoline at McLennan to permit a return journey.

MAIL BUSINESS AT SEATTLE SHOWED 25 PER CENT INCREASE OVER 1927

St. Paul, Jan. 3.—Holiday mail and express business on the Northern Pacific was the heaviest in history, according to C. H. Goodhue, manager of mail, baggage and express traffic on that railroad. Over the entire system, he said, the volume showed substantial increase. Reports from Seattle received here are typical. It was said that the mail business there showed a 25 per cent increase over 1927. In 1927, 3,500 way-bills were handled daily in express while this year the number was 5,000. Similar reports have come from many points on the Northern Pacific. Montana, North Dakota and Minnesota all showed an increase.

Special mail and express trains were operated on the west end, and also on the east end of the system to accommodate the heavier business, while extra cars were carried in practically all of the trains.

According to E. E. Nelson, passenger traffic manager of the Northern Pacific, holiday long distance travel this year was greater than it was in 1927. The more favorable weather had a tendency to curtail somewhat the short haul passenger business, since traffic over public highways was stimulated. Long distance rates were available to travel in the holiday period.

SEARCH FOR SLAYER OF JUNE NELSON IS QUICKENED

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 3. — (UP)—Search for the slayer of June Nelson, 12, was quickened today with police in possession of their first promising leads. One of them was that two men, instead of one, were involved.

Mr. and Mr. Daniel O'Leary and Arthur O'Leary reported they had observed a large closed automobile parked on a dark street near the canal where June's body was thrown after she was attacked and choked to death Monday night. In the machine were two young men, and seated between them in the front seat was a young girl.

The O'Learys said the car sped away when they approached.

The nature of a number of other leads, all considered worth investigating, was not disclosed in full. It was stated, however, that two of them connected a large sedan with the slaying.

SPANISH RELATIONS ARE DISCUSSED

SPANISH PREMIER, GEN. PRIMO DE RIVERA, IN AN INTERVIEW

The following interview was given exclusively to the United Press by Gen. Primo De Rivera, Spanish premier.

By JOHN DeGANDT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Madrid, Jan. 3.—Closer relations between Spain and the American continents was the outstanding political event of the year 1928, Premier Primo De Rivera, of Spain, told the United Press in an exclusive interview today.

The premier mentioned the treaties his country has negotiated with several South American republics, and the presence in American universities of Spanish professors as well as improved trade as evidences of the sloser relations between Spain and the countries of America.

"Allow me to begin by giving my opinion of the theme I deem most interesting at this moment, namely the tension between Bolivia and Paraguay, which if it disappears by peaceful means and through the intervention of the League of Nations, will mean a great advance to the latter's prestige and enormous progress on the road to universal peace," De Rivera said.

"Spain, as the mother of American peoples, would have with such a happy outcome a veritable satisfaction.

"Spain has placed over any other aim the doctrine of peace and justice among peoples and co-operated in as many undertakings as were initiated for the prosecution of humanitarian, progressive and cultural ends," De Rivera said.

"Spain was able to gain from all countries a feeling of esteem and respect without the slightest discordance."

CHARGES BOSTON COUNCIL WITH BRIBERY

BOSTON BRAVES PRESIDENT MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT

EMIL FUCHS TESTIFIED UNDER OATH THAT PAYMENTS WERE ASKED

WAS ASKED TO PAY $65,000 TO EXPEDITE ORDER PERMITTING SUNDAY SPORTS

Boston, Jan. 3.—(UP)—A triple investigation of the bribery charges of President Emil Fuchs of the Boston Braves, involving 13 members of the Boston city council, appeared imminent today.

Fuchs created a sensation late yesterday when, after being summoned before the Boston finance commission, he testified under oath that he had been asked to pay the councilmen $5,000 each—a total of $65,000—to expedite a passage of the order permitting professional Sunday sports in this city.

City Councilman William G. Lynch of South Boston was named by Fuchs as the man who demanded the "payment" on behalf of himself and 12 other members of the council.

District Attorney Foley announced that he would submit the case to the grand jury as soon as he received a transcript of the testimony before the finance commission.

ROY RIEGELS' WRONG-WAY RUN, TOPIC

FEELING AMONG THE FANS IS ONE OF REAL SYMPATHY

CALIFORNIA'S PLUCKY AND UNLUCKY CAPTAIN-ELECT

New York, Jan. 3. — (UP)—Now that the excitement inevitably attendant upon that wrong-way run of Roy Riegels in the Rose Bowl on New Year's day has died away, it is safe to say that the more lasting feeling among football fans everywhere will be one of real sympathy for California's plucky and unlucky captain-elect.

It is to be hoped that the same courage which enabled the husky young center of the Golden Bears to return to the game in the second half and rip the Georgia Tech line to shreds will help carry Riegels through the difficult period when memory of his blunder still is poignant.

Search of football annals has failed to reveal a similar play in major college circles. It occurred in the second period, with the score 0 to 0, and proved the turning point of a desperately contested game.

"Stumpy" Thomason, chunky back of Georgia Tech, fumbled on his own 25 yard line. Riegles, who had been badly battered in line plays opposite the mighty Peter Pund, seized the ball and started across the field.

"I looked around and saw some goal posts and made for them," he explained afterwards, scorning any one of a number of obvious alibis. He ran 70 yards or more towards his own goal, and was stopped at the goal line, too late to remedy his mistake.

After all, what was it that Riegels was doing? He had the will to win, and he was off, on bruised legs, with labored, aching lungs, to run as fast and as far as he could and score for California.

It is worth hoping that next fall's California eleven, under his leadership, will have a season so successful that Captain Roy Riegels' name will stand for football fame and not for that one mishap of New Year's day.

TEX RICKARD IS RESTING EASY

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 3.—(UP)—Tex Rickard, New York sports promoter, was reported resting easy early today in the Allison hospital here. Rickard is recovering from an operation for acute appendicitis.

Hockey Practice

The Brainerd City Hockey club will have hockey practice every Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights at the hours from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock, starting tomorrow. All members of the team are required to be present.

St. Paul, Jan. 3.—(UP)—The application of J. B. Finch, Duluth, for permission to operate a passenger bus line between Duluth and Superior, over the Arrowhead bridge, today was dismissed without prejudice by the state railroad and warehouse commission.

SANGOR SUSPENDED BY COMMISSION

TOMMY LOUGHRAN HAS HIS EYE ON HEAVY TITLE

Chicago, Jan. 3.—(U.P.)—Tommy Loughran, the best of the light heavyweights, will come to Chicago within a few days to start the campaign which he believes will end with his assuming the heavyweight boxing title, which Gene Tunney vacated.

Loughran has an exclusive contract with Paddy Harmon, Chicago promoter, calling for him to meet any heavyweight Harmon designates. Loughran's first fight probably will be staged sometime before the last of March.

Harmon said he already has written to Jack Sharkey's manager, offering Sharkey a bout with Loughran.

Hudkins Victor Over De Vos

FORCED DOWN ON MISSION OF MERCY

CAPTAIN "WOP" MAY WAS CARRYING SERUM TO FIGHT DIPHTHERIA

DOWN AT McLENNAN WHILE ON WAY TO FROZEN NORTH

Edmonton, Alberta, Jan. 3. — (UP) —Forced down at McLennan, Alberta, with his precious cargo of anti-toxin serum, Captain "Wop" May, today was reported preparing to resume his journey to the diphtheria infested regions of the frozen north.

Captain May hopped off Wednesday with 500,000 units of anti-toxin and pointed his plane towards Fort Vermillion and Little Red river where diphtheria was reported prevalent.

The message requesting the serum had started out from Little Red river by dog-sled on Dec. 18. Many days later it reached Peace river, 167 miles south from there was relayed Wednesday to Edmonton by wire. Dr. H. A. Hamman, said in the message that A. Logan, factor of the Hudson Bay Company post at Fort Vermillion had died of the disease.

It was not known what caused Captain May's landing at McLennan, 200 miles north of Edmonton, and 400 miles south of Fort Vermillion. Flyers here assumed it was minor motor trouble which could easily be repaired.

In addition to the fact that the flight to Fort Vermillion had never before been attempted there was the added fear that there was not sufficient gasoline at McLennan to permit a return journey.

HOLIDAY MAIL, EXPRESS BUSINESS IS HEAVY ON N. P.

MAIL BUSINESS AT SEATTLE SHOWED 25 PER CENT INCREASE OVER 1927

St. Paul, Jan. 3.—Holiday mail and express business on the Northern Pacific was the heaviest in history, according to C. H. Goodhue, manager of mail, baggage and express traffic on that railroad. Over the entire system, he said, the volume showed substantial increase. Reports from Seattle received here are typical. It was said that the mail business there showed a 25 per cent increase over 1927. In 1927, 3,500 way-bills were handled daily in express while this year the number was 5,000. Similar reports have come from many points on the Northern Pacific. Montana, North Dakota and Minnesota all showed an increase.

Special mail and express trains were operated on the west end, and also on the east end of the system to accommodate the heavier business, while extra cars were carried in practically all of the trains.

According to E. E. Nelson, passenger traffic manager of the Northern Pacific, holiday long distance travel this year was greater than it was in 1927. The more favorable weather had a tendency to curtail somewhat the short haul passenger business, since traffic over public highways was stimulated. Long distance rates were available to travel in the holiday period.

SEARCH FOR SLAYER OF JUNE NELSON IS QUICKENED

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 3. — (UP)—Search for the slayer of June Nelson, 12, was quickened today with police in possession of their first promising leads. One of them was that two men, instead of one, were involved.

Mr. and Mr. Daniel O'Leary and Arthur O'Leary reported they had observed a large closed automobile parked on a dark street near the canal where June's body was thrown after she was attacked and choked to death Monday night. In the machine were two young men, and seated between them in the front seat was a young girl.

The O'Learys said the car sped away when they approached.

The nature of a number of other leads, all considered worth investigating, was not disclosed in full. It was stated, however, that two of them connected a large sedan with the slaying.

SPANISH RELATIONS ARE DISCUSSED

SPANISH PREMIER, GEN. PRIMO DE RIVERA, IN AN INTERVIEW

The following interview was given exclusively to the United Press by Gen. Primo De Rivera, Spanish premier.

By JOHN DeGANDT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Madrid, Jan. 3.—Closer relations between Spain and the American continents was the outstanding political event of the year 1928, Premier Primo De Rivera, of Spain, told the United Press in an exclusive interview today.

The premier mentioned the treaties his country has negotiated with several South American republics, and the presence in American universities of Spanish professors as well as improved trade as evidences of the sloser relations between Spain and the countries of America.

"Allow me to begin by giving my opinion of the theme I deem most interesting at this moment, namely the tension between Bolivia and Paraguay, which if it disappears by peaceful means and through the intervention of the League of Nations, will mean a great advance to the latter's prestige and enormous progress on the road to universal peace," De Rivera said.

"Spain, as the mother of American peoples, would have with such a happy outcome a veritable satisfaction.

"Spain has placed over any other aim the doctrine of peace and justice among peoples and co-operated in as many undertakings as were initiated for the prosecution of humanitarian, progressive and cultural ends," De Rivera said.

"Spain was able to gain from all countries a feeling of esteem and respect without the slightest discordance."
